Crafts Study Centre Trustees

The Crafts Study Centre Trust was established on 1 June 1970. The first Board of Trustees was chaired by Ewart Uncles and included, for example, the potter Henry Hammond (then Head of Ceramics at West Surrey College of Art & Design at Farnham) and the gallery owner and curator Muriel Rose, as well as Robin Tanner, who made important gifts to the founding museum.

The current Board of Trustees includes distinguished practitioners, educationalists and craft curators.
